FIGHT LED BY QUAY AGAINST THE TAX

AMENDMENT TO THE TARIFF BILL OFFERED.

Provided For Striking Out the Income Provision and Putting a Duty on Woolen Goods and Raw Wool—The House Are Debating the Currency Bill—Capitol News.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—[Special]—Senator Quay introduced the proposed amendment to the urgency deficiency bill this morning, amending the tariff law by striking out all provision for the income tax and substituting a new woolen schedule, including a duty on raw wool.

In the house the body went into a committee of the whole to consider the currency bill. Mr. Black, of Georgia, was speaking in its favor, with Mr. Richardson, of Tennessee, in the chair at 3 o'clock.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Senator Davis of Minnesota, a member of the committee on foreign relations, thinks that the war between China and Japan will result in a great extensisn of commerce between the United States and both of these countries "Of course," he said, "our commerce is not anything of importance compared to what it might be with proper encouragement. The war will result in the reorganization of the Chinese empire in accordance with the progress and development of the world. This reorganization must be made. The people of China are intelligent and will be progressive. They have been in a state of stagnation for a time, but forces are at work. The war will teach them that the customs and old ideas will not do in the present age."

Mr. Davis thinks that the war will call the attention of the people of the United States to the importance of both China and Japan as markets for our wares and that many products of these countries will find a market in the United States.

IMPORTANT POSTAL CHANGES.

Reforms to go Into Effect With th Beginning of the New Year.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Several important plans for improving the postal service have just become operative. The principal one is the general reduction of postage rates for Cape Colony, Free State and all other countries not embraced in the universal postal union. Under the provisions of the new scheme all countries will now enjoy uniform rates except Canada and Mexico, for which special rates have long been in vogue. The change results in a reduction of rates for ordinary mails from 10 to 5 cents on a half ounce and for newspapers from 2 to 1 cent for two ounces.

The new arrangement for facilitating foreign mails from Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Chicago and St. Louis has also gone into operation. This allows the present system of having the regular mails handled and waybilled at the New York office, but also provides for sending additional mails by later trains, which leave in time to make direct connections with the steamers, messengers being stationed at the depots to carry the mail direct to the vessels.

A change in the series of the newspaper and periodical stamps will go into operation this week, involving general changes in denominations and colors, though maintaining the general characteristics. The new denominations are 1, 2, 3, 5, 10, 25 and 50 cents, and $2, $5, $10, $20, $50 and $100. The denominations continued are 4, 6, 8, 12, 24, 36, 48, 60, 72, 84, 96 and 92 cents and $3, $6, $9, $12, $24, $36, $48 and $60. The terms of 135 presidential postmasters will expire during this month.

MAY END PLAN FOR PEACE.

Unless China Hastens Negotiations New Complications May Come.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—It is the belief of officials in a position to know the status of affairs between Japan and China that Japan will declare the peace negotiations off unless China hastens them. There is increasing irritation on the part of Japan as to the delays in presenting definite peace proposals. Already the Japanese government is inclining to a unanimous demand of the native press to make far greater demands than were contemplated when the peace negotiations began. There are evidences that Japan is preparing for an aggressive military movement, calculated to impress China and the plenipotentiaries with Japan's ability to increase the advantage already secured.

Income Tax Appropriation May Pass.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Senator Cockrell, chairman of the senate committee on appropriations, said yesterday he would probably call the committee together soon after the reconvening of congress, and that the urgent deficiency bill which contains the provision for an appropriation to put the income tax into operation would be taken up as soon as practicable. Mr. Cockrell is satisfied this provision will pass.

There is no state indebtedness whatever, while the permanent funds, including the United States deposit fund, aggregate $9,210,394 of principal. The amount realized from the transfer tax (otherwise known as the inheritance tax) during the year was $1,688,954, and from the corporation and organization taxes $1,796,640, making a total of $3,484,585. TRACED TO THE RIVER.

One of Scott's Supposed Murderers in Jail in O'Neill, Neb.

O'NEILL, Neb., Jan. 3.—It is believed now that Burnett Scott has been murdered and his body thrown in the Niobrara river. Sheriff Hamilton and men tracked the wagon in which Scott and Schmidt were taken to within a few miles of the river, when all trace was lost. There are a large number of air holes in the river and it would be an easy matter for the conspirators to have hidden the evidence of their crime. The body could be weighted and the treacherous quicksands would assist them in their task. Residents of the county in which the crime was committed say for the last three or four days a large number of men have been riding through that portion of the country, all being heavily armed. One man was arrested yesterday for the crime and it is rumored three or four more men will be apprehended to-day. He was soon made aware of the purpose of their visit, for he was called to account for having robbed a home in Gravesville of its best treasure, fifteen years ago. that he might subject her to the vicissitudes of an itinerant's life. It was demanded of him how he had kept the promises he so eagerly made at that time. The silence of both parties giving consent that they had been faithfully kept, they were congratulated at having reached the fifteenth milestone of their married life, and the earnest desire expressed that they might be permitted in health and prosperity to pass the diamond mile stone, and at last, pass triumphantly through the pearly gates to a glad reunion in heaven. A few articles of utility were presented as mementos of the occasion, after which Mr. Pease admitted that he had not only robbed the home of its best treasure, but the community of its Belle, still he claimed he was free from blame, as he had demonstrated to witnesses at the time, in the presence of Rev. Wesley C. Waldron, that he had strong claims, and any way he had remained in undisputed possession of the prize for fifteen years, and it was too late now to disprove his title. Light refreshments were served, and when the evening shadows began to fall, the company went away with pleasant memories of the occasion. *

A QUEER YOUNG LAD WAS IRVING M'LEAN

DID UNLAWFUL WORK WITHOUT EXCITING SUSPICION.

No One Knew He Was Doing Wrong as He Evidently Slipped Away From the House While the Inmates Supposed Him to Be Asleep In Bed.

There are a good many strange circumstances connected with the wrongdoing of young Irwin McLean, the fifteen year old boy who is under arrest for robbing the post office at Fulton. All the people with whom he had dealings say that he was a good boy and they cannot account for his crime. D. F. Sayre, Jr. has written The Gazette the following letter in which he tells of McLean's life with him and says that the boy evidently went to bed early and then slipped away after the family were asleep. Mr. Sayre says:

EDITOR GAZETTE:—In justice to Irvin McLean and to give a correct idea of his life while with me I wish to place before the public a few statements that have not been made and correct some which have been made.

Irvin McLean came to us in January 1892 from the Waifs Mission of Chicago. He was twelve years and one-half old; a bright promising boy we thought him. Before this he had lived with his parents in different cities but for three years in Chicago. There he sold papers and had been an office boy, had attended the Chicago schools and from his fathers accouut had been a good and truthful boy. His brother states that at different times the father had had considerable difficulty with him. After he came to us he did the different kinds of light work on a farm during the summer and going to school in the winter from the first of December to April.

Both my wife and myself placed the utmost confidence in him, leaving the house often entirely under his care and often trusting him with money to make purchases at the stores and never did he come short in the proper change. He never aroused a suspicion as to his truthfulness. It was not until this fall that I ever caught him in a pure lie.

His teaching in the family has been as nearly as possible that of an own child; his training and instruction careful, and with a view to develop a useful, generous and helpful man, and best of all a christian man. and when I learned that the suspicion of robbing the post-office and store rested upon him, I was as much surprised as if it had been a son of mine. His actions and manners during the last few weeks caused some wonderings in the family, they seemed so strange; but no thought that he was going wrong. He had many boyish faults, but none to shake my faith in him except in the single instance of the lie. His reading was, as far as it is in my power to trace it, of the very best. He was fond of reading; he had everything in the line of books we had. Dickens, George Macdonald, George Eliot, Victor Hugo and Scott he read with a relish, and histories without number.

I never found any dime novels or trashy stuff about him, for in his room and I do not believe he read them, since he left Chicago, his brother says he used to read them there. I always kept him home evenings unless a lecture or social drew him to the village. Of late he has been deceiving me, going to his room early, and after I believed him to be asleep he would get up and go off in his wanderings, and my faith was such that I never thought of watching him. I am grieved and shocked that one who has such prospects, should willfully throw them away by such criminal conduct.

DAVID F. SAYRE, Jr.

Catarrh caused hoarseness and difficulty in speaking. I also to a great extent lost hearing. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm dropping of mucous has ceased, voice and hearing have greatly improved.—J. W. Davidson, Att'y at Law, Monmouth, Ill.

I used Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh and have received great benefit. I believe it a safe and certain cure. Very pleasant to take.—Wm. Frazer, Rochester, N. Y.

A WONDERFUL WORK.

Something of the Utmost Interest.

A Matter Which Deeply Concerns Everybody.

It Means Less Expense and More Money.

It is Just What All Persons Are Looking For.

Probably The Greatest Discovery of the Age.

The greatest and most wonderful enterprises in the world are those which have the strongest and most powerful intellects to back them, which result from years of study by thinking men, and which are built upon a foundation so sure and firm that no possible emergency can weaken them. That is exactly the case with the subject in question. It has astonished the most learned men everywhere, and the greatest intellects of the age acknowledge its genuine worth and marvelous superiority. And what makes it still more valuable is the fact that it is something a large portion of the people need.

No other discovery in the world has proven so useful, has been the means of so much saving, and has so completely won the hearts of the people as Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Its irresistable power to cure has astonished the greatest physicians in the world. Our great reason why this wonderful remedy has taken the highest place among all the medicines of the world, why people prefer it to all others and have more confidence in it than any other, is the fact that Dr. Greene himself personally assumes the entire responsibility of his medicine.

There are many remedies of uncertain value with no one to vouch for them, no physician standing behind them with whom persons can consult in case the medicines fail to produce the desired effect. But here is one which is the discovery and prescription of the best known and most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th street, New York City, who is in active practice, and stands ready at all times to answer any and all questions regarding his remedy and its effects. And right here is another great advantage. Dr. Greene actually requests all persons taking his wonderful remedy to consider themselves under his direct personal care and treatment, and to consult him, free of charge, personally or by letter. He will carefully answer all letters, giving his advice and all necessary information.

The great and world wide reputation of Dr. Greene is a guarantee that his medicine will cure, and the fact that he can be consulted by anyone, at any time, free of charge, gives absolute assurance of the sure and beneficial action of his valuable remedy. No other medicine in the world offers so many or such strong inducements, and no other can give such certain and powerful assurance of curing disease. These facts give everybody the utmost confidence in Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Use it. It will make you strong and well.

COLONEL SMITH'S NEW POSITION.

Comment of the Milwaukee Sentinel On His Fond du Lac Venture.

Colonel Nicholas Smith's purchase of an interest in the Fond du Lac Commonwealth leads the Milwaukee Sentinel to say: The Commonwealth is one of the oldest papers in the state and pays good dividends to its owners. A. T. Glaze, a well known editor who formerly lived at Ripon, will retire from the editorial chair of The Commonwealth which he has filled for some time. Ever since Colonel Smith disposed of his interest in the Janesville Gazette, which paper he edited with ability for sixteen years, he has been anxious to enter the newspaper business, for which he is well fitted. During the past three years he has acted as the press secretary of the Republican State Central committee, and has at the same time been engaged in writing a book on religious hymnology, which he expects to publish before long. During the present winter season he is delivering lectures on this subject and on war songs under the auspices of a Chicago lecture bureau. His new arrangements as editor of the Commonwealth will not interfere with his lecture engagements, which he will continue in future seasons. Col. Smith is one of the best known and most popular of Wisconsin editors. Besides his editorial experience on The Janesville Gazette he was the Sentinel's legislative correspondent for five years and was its Washington correspondent during the Forty-third congress. For six years he was a member of the state board of control. His lectures have been so successful that his friends have urged him to devote his entire time to lecturing, but his love for newspaper work was so great that he decided to make subordinate his lecturing engagements to the work of his chosen avocation."

Baltimore as a Maritime City.

Baltimore is the fourth maritime city in the country, being exceeded by New York, Boston and New Orleans, and nearly 3,000 foreign vessels arrive and depart every year. The exports exceed $50,000,000 a year.

TOWN GOES CRAZY OVER ICE SKATING

MILD FORM OF LUNACY IS NOW EPIDEMIC.

Grand Parents Glide Along Beside of Grand Children and White Haired Men Vie With Boys—John Ehle and Orlando Baker Hadn't Tried It For 30 Years.

There's an epidemic of insanity in this good town.

You didn't know it?

That's queer. Haven't you noticed that nine-tenths of the people you see on the street in the evening have skates in their hands?

You have?

Well that's the badge.

The town is crazy over skating. People whose hair is white from the frosts of many winters glide along beside the boy whose little legs are almost too small to hold him up. Men who haven't had the skates on since the first pair of "rockers" with their curled up runners were made, now buy the new-fangled "all clamps" and go at it.

The craze has struck the town with unusual force this winter. Since the freeze up of a few days ago the people fairly swarm on the river, the favorite localities being the bayou above the gas house, and the bay formed by the "big rock" peninsula at Monterey. Thousands of people gather at these points every day and evening, to enjoy the healthful exercises. The ice was never better. Many people who have not indulged in skating for years may be seen enjoying themselves on the ice now.

"I have not had a pair of skates on before in fifteen years," said one middle aged man, while he was tightening his club skates, kneeling on the ice.

"What do you thing of me," chimed in John Ehle, "I have not had a pair on in thirty years."

Mr. Ehle had just fastened the clamps on his shoes, and was cautiously straightening up, feeling his way on the ice. He was just about to say that his skates felt natural on his feet when he made a forcible backward obeisance.

"Have you busted your skull?" querried Orlando Baker, who had just shoved away from shore, but whose skates had suddenly planted his heavy form by the side of Ehle's.

"Say, John, did you ever know how to skate on ice," said Mr. Baker, and then the two gray haired boys gained their feet, and, taking hold of hands, soon "caught on" to the treachery of the skates.

Many ladies, also, are enjoying the sport, and the ladies are not all young misses either. Some may be seen on the ice with their grand children and the grandmas appear as lively as most of the younger and more frolicksome girls.

JERRE MURPHY GETS A STATE JOB.

Appointed Deputy Railroad Commissioner By Commissioner Elect McKenzie.

Duncan H. McKenzie, commissioner elect under the new administration, yesterday announced the appointment of Jerre C. Murphy, the well known newspaper writer as deputy railroad commissioner. Mr. Murphy was endorsed for an appointment under the administration by well known republicans in every congressional district and by his newspaper friends in Milwaukee and in the state press. That he will make a good officer goes without saying.

The Unexpected Discharge of a Cannon

Close by would not have a more disturbing effect upon the nerves which are vigorous than an ordinary noise upon those that are weak and unstrung. As a nervine, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is unrivaled. By promoting digestion and assimilation they overcome that gastric disorder, which is the most prolific cause of nervous debility, and which, so long as it exists, defeats in a large measure the action of sedatives and opiates. Such remedies, moreover, necessitate the use of increasing doses, and finally cease to act altogether, except in dangerous quantities. They never reach the fountain head of the trouble, and quiet the nerves only by semi-paralyzing them. Equally objectionable are fiery unmedicated alcoholic stimulants. Kidney, bladder and liver trouble, malaria, constipation and rheumatism are relieved by the Bitters, which also promotes appetite and nightly repose.

How She Remembered.

Binks—I don't see how you can remember the birthdays of all the children.

Mrs. Binks—It's very easy. The first was born on August 17. I remember it because on that day you gave me a pearl necklace with my name and the date on the clasp. The second was born July 20. On that day you gave me a fifty-cent book with my name and the date on the fly-leaf. The third was born May 6. On that day you got mad at a millinery bill which had just been sent in, and it isn't paid yet.—N. Y. Weekly.

Genius Handicapped.

"Oh, yes," she answered in a tone of indifference.

Art Furniture.

"That stove," began the customer, with deadly calmness, "you sold me last week as an 'art stove,' I believe?"

"Yes," admitted the dealer. "Isn't it?"

"It doesn't know any more about art than a hog does about Sunday."

"Eh? What?"

"I say it doesn't know the first thing about art. I haven't tried it on painting yet, but it can't draw worth a cent."—Indianapolis Journal.

Matrimonial.

"Do you remember that letter you wrote to me, before we were married, in which you said you would even give up your chances of heaven for me?" remarked Mrs. Peck.

"Well," said Mr. N. Peck, after he had got hold of his hat and had the door open, "I guess I told the truth."—Indianapolis Journal.

Where Science ends and Common Sense should rule. Persons of sedentary habits are liable to indigestion or dyspepsia. These, in turn, will bring on nervous disorders, kidney complaints, constipation, etc. This is especially the case with merchants, students and scientists. They will give you the exact dimensions of Jupiter, the distance from Saturn to the sun, to a foot, but they cannot or will not tell themselves what will cure this train of disorders.

18—Titus Livius, Roman historian, died.

1826—John R. Broadhead, diplomat and author of a history of New York, born in Philadelphia; died 1873.

1861—Frederick William IV of Prussia died. Accession of William I, the great Kaiser Wilhelm. Frederick William was a moderate ruler, who excited hopes of reform never realized. After the insurrection in Berlin in 1848 he made concessions to the Liberals. He ceased to reign in 1858, his brother, afterward King William I of Prussia and Emperor William I of Germany, acting as regent.

1888—Joel Parker, war governor of New Jersey, died at Trenton; born 1807.

1891—Alexander William Kinglake, author of "History of the Crimean War," died in London; born 1802.

1894—Col. Floyd Clarkson, a prominent G. A. R. veteran, died in New York city; born 1831.

CALL A SPECIAL SESSION.

This hard-times hint comes from the Madison Democrat and shows how the Wilson law is regarded in the house of its friends:

"Unless President Cleveland convenes the new congress pretty soon after March 4 and asks it to pass a tariff bill that will give the country revenue and not violate every principle of amity with other countries, the people of the United States are going to see harder times than they have as yet dreamed of. The condition of things could not be very much worse than at present for any revival of business and no improvement will come while trade with other countries is strangled by the Wilson tariff act. The president made the mistake of his life by vetoing the bill. It is idle to expect the present congress, responsible for such a brainless tariff act, to amend or improve it. The body lacks both the knowledge and the honesty. Mr. Cleveland can convene a republican congress to enact a new one or he can see his second administration go down into history the most despised since Buchanan's time.

"The next time the democratic party gets into power it should either let the tariff laws alone or get some one besides a backwoods West Virginia school master in charge of the matter.

IS ANOTHER TRIAL NEEDED.

During the thirty-one years of the existence of the national banks the people have not lost a dollar by holding their currency, and only 5 per cent. of the banks have failed to pay all other obligations. But how was it under the state banking system of preceding years? In 1837 all the banks failed, and people holding their currency were losers. In 1839 no less than 405 of the 959 State banks suspended, and in the next three years 210 went into bankruptcy. There was a general suspension of the 1449 state banks in 1857 for a period of six weeks, and many turned out to be almost total wrecks. In 1862 the number of state banks was 1562, of which sixty-two failed during the year, while the currency of 660 others was mostly worthless in the hands of the unfortunate holders. This is the sort of distribution of worthless financial rags in every citizens' pocket which the administration is trying to fix up as a New Year's gift to a people already suffering from many forms of imbecility in the governing power.

SAID IN JEST.

Young Father—What's the baby crying for? Young Mother—Because I told him he looked like you.

"Mr. Sadly tells me you have given him new courage and hope." Doctor—I'm glad to hear that; I'll put them in the bill now.

Mrs. Bingo—Can't I have a bicycle, dear? Bingo—Pshaw! you'll never learn. Mrs. Bingo—Well, I've had enough practice working the sewing machine.

Professor, seeing the sign "Freshly painted" over the zebra's cage in the zoological garden—How very strange! I could have sworn that those stripes were natural.

Everett Wrest—Lady, if you would like to have some wood sawed——. Mrs. Potts—We burn gas. "Then perhaps you will let me turn on the gas for my breakfast?"

Prominent Citizen — That confounded editor is roasting me again. Tell me how I can bust up his infernal paper. Level-headed Citizen—Buy it and run it a few weeks.

Employer finding his clerk asleep at the desk—Look here, Meyer, you can clear out at the month's end. Clerk peevishly—Well, you needn't have wakened me so soon for that.

"Now I know why the milk we get here is so weak," said the agricultural editor to the farmer with whom he was boarding; "I just this minute saw you give those cows water to drink."

Joax—You know Bagley fell off a car yesterday and broke his jaw. His face is all bound up. I went up to see him to-day. Hoax—How was he? Joax—His wife said he couldn't complain.

"What is Showers wearing that medal for?" "He's the weather prophet that foretold a lot of terrible storms that never came, and the people gave him that out of gratitude."

Father, to his 7-year-old daughter beside him on the dog cart, cutting the whip sharply through the air—See, Dolly, how I make the horse go faster without striking him at all. Dolly in an eager tone of happy discovery—Papa, why don't you spank us children in that way.

"Some day," said the morose man, "I am going to write a book. I'm going to make a record of my wasted opportunities; a compilation of things I should have done and didn't do." "What will it's title be?" "H'm'm! I hadn't thought of that. I guess I'll call it my ought-to-biography."

The woman was before the police judge for having beaten her husband in a cruel manner. "You are charged," said his honor, "with aggravated assault and battery. What have you to say?" "That's just it, yer honor," the prisoner responded promptly; "if he hadn't aggravated me I never would have raised my hand to him."

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 3.—The senatorial fight is further complicated by the appearance in St. Paul of Congressman Tawney. He then went home, he didn't tell us how to sell it or anything else, but we knew what he meant--cut and slash--reduce the stock, sell it out no difference what the sacrifice. Do you understand? If not, come in and we'll explain.

IT COST $19,444.89 TO RUN THE COURTS

JUDICIARY EXPENSES ARE ALL FIGURED UP.

The Figures Include Pay of Jurors, Officers and Witness Fees and The General Expenses of All the Courts From the Circuit Down To Justice Tribunals.

Rock county's judiciary cost the people just $19,444.89 for the year 1894. This sum is not all to be charged up to the municipal and circuit courts, but it includes all justices courts in the county, the county court, the circuit court, constable and marshal fees, witness fees, the per diem of jurors in all the courts, and the general expense of the judicial system. County Treasurer Burdick balanced up his ledger of court expenses today, and gave out the above figures as official.

Miss Nellie Holmes entertained a few friends in a very pleasant manner at her home on Milwaukee avenue last evening. The hours passed quickly with games and social amusements, and it was not until nearly midnight that the gaiety was cut short. The guests were Misses Nettie and Amelia Harrington, Miss Spoon, Miss Ella Barlow, Miss Kitty Shopbell, F. A. Spoon, Frank G. Irish and Edgar M. Church, and they all say they spent a very enjoyable evening.

You can catch more flies with sugar than with vinegar. That is the way we figure; we can get more trade by giving you bargains than by trying to work off some high priced stuff at a grand profit. We are going to make '95 a whale in the line of selling shoes at discount prices. Keep one eye on our large ads. You can save money by keeping posted. Brown Bros. & Lincoln.

Sheriff elect W. H. Appleby will move his family from Beloit to Janesville on Saturday, and will occupy the residence portion of the jail. Sheriff J. L. We have made low prices in the past, and sold goods below cost and all that, but we have never made prices as low as we have now. We are compelled to sell $9,000 worth by February 7, and in order to do it we must sacrifice. Fine chinchilla overcoats $5. T. J. Ziegler.

The Madison Journal, a newspaper that is a credit to the town and the state, came out Wednesday evening in an entire new dress of type and printed on a new press. The Journal is a good paper, which fact, judging from their evident prosperity, is fully appreciated by Madison people.

We have gone through our stock of furniture and marked many goods below the cost of manufacture in order to close them out before spring. We will sell anything for cash or credit. We must and will dispose of this stock. Frank D. Kimball.

It is not necessary for us to cut prices on the Jersey Lily flour, a good flour always sells for the best price, cheap grades you can get at almost any price. We guarantee Jersey Lily. Dunn Bros.

Perhaps you don't need the clothing now but it will pay you to invest any way, even if you have to borrow the money. We know we will never be able to sell as cheap. T. J. Ziegler.

We are actually going out of business. We are invoicing now, will be through Friday night. Closing out sale commences Saturday morning, come then and secure the plums. The Hub.

Liverymen smiled this morning to see the snow storm, but were correspondingly sad when the snow cloud rolled by and old Sol blazed forth as bright as ever.

Well! Some more new spring goods arrived today, although it is snowing we are showing the exact things in new spring goods. 20 per cent. below all old goods. Bort, Bailey & Co.

Every article of clothing we have in the house is the 1894 make and style, we bought too much for the kind of weather we have had, and we won't carry over to next year. We will always commence a season with new stock, therefore we sacrifice now. Read prices on 4th page or come inside. T. J. Ziegler.

As soon as we get our years business straightened up a little more we propose to give the boys something to talk about in the shoe line. We have some makes we don't wish to keep any longer and we will close out at cost to us or less. We will let you know in due time, about Monday next. Brown Bros. & Lincoln.

You will regret it if you let this month pass without taking advantage of the prices we are making at our bankrupt sale of clothing at 7 and 9 S. River street, 50 cents buys a dollars worth. All we can do is offer you the clothing, if you wont take it, you are to blame.

Just watch this paper for developments. We made all Janesville howl in the shoe business during 1894. We will continue to keep Janesville lively in 1895 and try and take in such towns as Milwaukee, on the side Brown Bros. & Lincoln.

Don't pay a fancy price for Curtice Bros. canned or bottled goods, or any other canned or bottled goods. We can save you 25 per cent on all. We are selling at cost to us. Dunn Bros.

JANESVILLE MAN WAS IN THE WRECK

ENGINEER ROBBINS PULLED THE CHICAGO TRAIN.

Stuck to His Post When the Crash at Deering Came and Was Slightly Injured—St. Paul May Use Claim Agents Again—Earnings Below Last Year.

A Janesville engineer pulled the Chicago & Northwestern train that was wrecked at Deering, between Chicago & Waukegan yesterday in which four people were injured.

Charles Robbins was the man and his removal from Janesville to Chicago took place but a short time ago. He lived on Linn street and is very well known here.

The train was composed of five coaches, and was in charge of Mr. Robins, engineer; John Cook, fireman, and G. Lane conductor. The coaches were all crowded with theatre-goers who live in the suburbs.

The train reached the open switch 200 feet from the Deering street station in safety. Engineer Robins did not know the switch was set wrong until his engine left the track and ran on the siding Then he set the brakes at the emergency stop but stuck to his post until the engine had plowed through the first box car and until the first coach was splintered over the boiler head. Then he jumped and escaped with slight bruises.

The engine crashek into a flat car standing on the siding. It was badly wrecked and toppled over on its side The tender was driven back upon the first coach, which was a day coach and crowded with people and it was in this car that the people who were hurt were riding. Switch Tender Graham was arrested for leaving the switch open charged with criminal carelessness.

CLAIM AGENTS MAY BE RESTORED

St. Paul Superintendents Are Worked to Death in This Line.

The question of "making both ends meet," is not the only one that bothers the officials of the St. Paul road. Superintendent Collins says that the claims department keeps him very busy these days and takes rather more of his time than was anticipated, when the claims agency under John Hinsey was dissolved and each superintendent was given the care of the claims in his district. The different superintendents on the St. Paul lines are all having this experience and are inclined to complain over the additional burden imposed on them by the retirement of Hinsey's department and the distribution of his work. John Hinsey received $12,000 per year and the other employes and expenses of the agency brought the total up to about $25,000 per year. The railroad company meant to make a saving in the abolishment of this special agency, but it is an open question whether it did or not. Mr. Hinsey had a peculiar faculty in getting rid of claims with the least possible cost to the company. This has become only too apparent since the superintendents have come to do the settling. The claims, it is asserted by those who ought to know, now average 25 per cent. more to the company than they did under Hinsey's management. If this is the case the company will be out of pocket in this economical deal. A 25 per cent. increase on claims means much more than Hinsey and his department cost the company. There are indications that if the percentage of increase continues until the end of the company's fiscal year the general claim agency will be restored.

ST. PAUL COMPANY RUNS BEHIND.

Earnings For Last Week $182,623 Less Than Last Year's Figures.

The necessity for the strict economy that is being practiced by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Company is shown by the statemont of the earnings of the company. The earnings for the fourth week in December were: $576,206, a decrease of $182,623 compared with the same week of last year.

It Goes On Apace.

That East Riverview Park deal. What with our new wagonette line right from the property to the post office every half hour, with artesian water to every lot, with the best of lights (all night burners) after April 1, with sidewalks (first thing in spring) from every lot to post office and further; there are no lots in Janesville that a homeseeker can buy at $600 to $800 so good as these; these are $400 each to your own terms. By the way, these lots are 4 by 10 rods (extra size you see) and all have alleys in the rear, so you won't have to cut up your lawn driving across it. The lots are the best at the price in the city. Possibly you may want one, if not no harm done by our being

The Way People Catch On

To a good thing,—undeniably good, is shown by our Christmas deal on lots at $105 each, worth $200 each. Nearly every lot went within two weeks. There are two or three yet left, and we shall close them at same price. After these are closed you can buy a few adjoining lots at $200 each, and that price is $50 per lot less than value. Keep your eye on that property and remember what we say January 2, 1895, before December 31 this year, these same lots will be in ready demand and quick sale at $300 each.

COX FAMILY HAD NO HOME

Two Landlords Decided that They Did Not Need Tenants.

Alvira Lord-Cox and her husband didn't sleep at home last night. This was not because they didn't want to but because two landlords were obdurate. They with their household goods occupy the streets. The family, whose names do not grace the "society blue book" occupied a tenement on North River street, and failing to pay rent, were ordered out. The head of the family secured a verbal lease of a house in another section of the ward, and yesterday loaded the household effects on a dray and vacated. But the dray was unloaded at the new home. The owner was also there on the door step, and informed his would be tenant that he had changed his mind and could not rent him the house. Back they turned to the River street house but they found the landlord determined that they could not regain possession. The household goods were unloaded in the street, the drayman leaving the man and wife the lonely guardians. The goods remained in the street all night.

S. B. KENYON GIVEN A JEWEL

Fellow Odd Fellows Mark His Twenty-Five Years' Service.

S. B. Kenyon was most pleasantly surprised last evening at Odd Fellows hall on North Main street. Mr. Kenyon has been an earnest and hard working member of Lodge 14 for over twenty-five years. This fact being known to a large number of the members, they planned that after the installation ceremonies they would call Patriarch Kenyon to the front, which was carried out. Mr. Kenyon was presented with a handsome jewel, known as the "veteran's jewel" in the order.

Broad-Shouldered Anton Kloxsfer Sent to the Poor House.

Anton Kloxsfor teld rather a pitiful story when he applied to the authorities for aid last night. Kloxsfor was a big, broad-shouldered young German, and perfectly able to work, but he could find no employment, he said, and he must be clothed and fed. He said that he had worked on a farm in Center for a long time, but had no wages due him when he was discharged, and hunted for work but could find none. He was sent to the poor house.

A Little Bit Dilatory.

We, in our first shout for 1895. But not because we are not mindful of the arrival of the festive day. The old man 1894 was good as good could be to us and while we welcome the new, the old has a very warm corner and occupies a tender place in our hearts. But the king is dead, long live the king! So here we are out for a vigorous campaign for the new year.

Never so well fixed were we as now to give homeseekers or buyers for profit a good deal. We have some ten nice homes that we own, that we can and will make a lower price on than you can possibly get at any other office. That you see is the advantage we have here. We deal largely in our own property and have no one to consult but the buyer as to price and we are just now at the beginning of the year feeling like doing you some good.

Chewing Gum a Habit.

There is no doubt that gum-chewing is a growing habit among even conservative people in this city. Physicians have been known to advocate the practice for indigestion, and under this scant claim to respectability the gum-dispensing slot machines take in a great many pennies during the day. But it will be a long time before the gum-chewer, no matter how omnipresent he becomes, will be a pleasing object to the eye, so why don't the public spend their money in something that is more amusing, that is not a habit, and is not only pleasing to the eye but the ear as well, and that is to go and see Jolly Nellie McHenry in her greatest show on earth, "A Night at the Circus." At the Grand Monday, January 7.

ELLEN PAID DEARLY FOR KEEPING A PIG

ORFORDVILTE HOTEL KEEPER SETTLES FINE AND COSTS.

Former Was Fifty Dollars and the Latter Something More, Which Represents the Profits on a Good Deal of the Beer the Pig Used Up [illegible] Swigs.

Ellen Shafer of Orfordville was a caller at the circuit court chambers this morning, she having summoned to appear before Judge Bennett to receive the sentence of the court. Mrs. Shafer was convicted by a jury on charge of selling liquors in Orfordville without a license. Attorney C. H. Pierce defended Mrs. Shafer, while District Attorney W. G. Wheeler looked after the interests of the state. Mrs. Shafer stood before the judge with her usual suavity, and did not seem in the least disturbed. The judge was very brief, and after refering to the action and the verdict of the jury, pronounced the sentence which was simply a fine of $50 and costs. It is said the costs will amount to something less than one hundred dollars.

In the municipal court, on the motion of District Attorney Wheeler, the cases against W. E. Vanlone and Harold Jackson, the Milton meat peddlers, were dismissed.

Robert Louis Gower, who was under arrest on a charge of throwing stones at his grandfather's house, was discharged from the municipal court on paying the costs.

John Mulcairns, alias "Lonny," was arrested yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police Acheson and introduced to Judge Phelps today, charged with being drunk and disorderly. Mulcairns pleaded guilty and was sent down to jail for five days.

TASTE IN DRESS.

Plain Skirts Are Richly Lined With Silk. In Silk and Velvet.

Simplicity is the accepted quality for mourning gowns and those intended for ordinary occasions. The ladies of the royal family in England wear plain dresses of inexpensive alpaca or serge for morning, and one of her majesty's favorite costumes is a black glace silk that the wife of many a small tradesman would scarcely think it worth her while to make up. One of the fine arts of life is appropriate apparel for the street, and it is equally important to understand how to dress for church. The gospel of good gowns needs expounding through the length and breadth of the land. Quite enough is already written and said on this subject, but much of it is not said in the right way. A description of new importations usually comprises the most fanciful and extravagant creations, while the plain, unobtrusive and simple styles are more than likely to be overlooked as too commonplace to furnish satisfactory paragraphs when the desire is for specially glowing accounts of novelties.

Amplitude of skirts and sleeves still continues, with no prospect of diminution. Even tailor made gowns of the severest simplicity are cut of an immense width about the foot, although molded to the figure around the hips. Plain skirts are greatly favored for all sorts of costumes, even those made of rich materials being rarely elaborated on the outside. Inside there is no limit to their glories, as they are often lined throughout with delicately tinted silk, the inner side of the hem being covered with small silk ruffles. Black skirts in particular are thus secretly enlivened, rose, mauve or straw taffetas being chosen for them.

An illustration is given of a simple but effective gown of black faille and green velvet. The skirt is entirely plain, while the bodice is slightly gathered at the waist and has a square velvet yoke embroidered with jet. A draped velvet belt finished with two erect bows and floating ends encircles the waist, and the standing collar and bow at the throat are also of velvet. The ample sleeves have velvet cuffs, and triple epaulets of velvet fall over the top of the sleeves. JUDIC CHOLLET.

VARIOUS ITEMS.

Ruffles Charitably Hide Defects of Figure. The Use of Crape.

In trimming waists it is desirable to put very little garniture across the back between the shoulders, especially if the wearer is inclined to stoop. Elaborate bodice garnitures look best ending at the back of the sleeves. There should be enough amplitude to hang gracefully, the greater part of the fullness being over the shoulders, but one-third allowed for the gathering will often be too much for a good effect unless the frill or lace is very wide. Ruffled goods should be adjusted while the dress is on the person, as it is then more easily and suitably arranged.

There are those who advocate the abandonment of crape in deep mourning, pointing, as an example, to a royal lady who refused to wear it when suffering bereavement some time ago. This is no valid argument so far as the general public are concerned. The use of crape is to announce to friends and acquaintances and others that our loss is so recent and our grief so acute that we must be excused from ordinary conversation or bearing our part as usual in the social or business world. It is the accepted sign of mourning, and its absence exposes the mourner to inquiry and remark.

Petticoats of flowered brocade are now trimmed with ruffles of glace silk of the several colors in the brocaded figures, with ribbons to match, the whole being toned down with white, yellow or black lace. For instance, a black satin petticoat brocaded with pink flowers and green leaves has green and pink frills and a black lace flounce decked with baby ribbon in the same colors.

The evening gown illustrated is of violet glace silk. The skirt falls in godets at the back and is trimmed in front with two sprays of chrysanthemums. The round bodice is plain, and across the bust is an empire drapery held by a pearl buckle. The full sleeves extend half way down to the elbow and are gathered under a violet velvet band. A full belt of violet velvet encircles the waist, fastening with a pearl buckle, while a band of velvet surrounds the decolletage, having a bow on each shoulder. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Pennsylvania Railroad Time.

There was a time when folks used to set their watches by the town clock. Nowadays the railway timepiece seems to set the pace. There is so much traveling and so many have to catch trains that men try to keep railroad time.

Few think, however, how difficult it is to keep that same railroad time straight. A bad watch or false time, even to the extent of a minute or two, might easily involve the destruction of a train and many lives. Conductors and engineers not only must have good time keeping watches, but they must have a very accurate standard of time to go by. All clocks vary, but most clocks vary too much for railroad accuracy.

All over the great Pennsylvania system the clocks are regulated every 24 hours by telegraph from Altoona, where they get the standard time in seconds from Washington. The conductors and engineers running out of Philadelphia get their time from the clock in the rotunda at the Broad street station, the big one in the center just outside the waiting room, which occupies the same position in the new station that it did in the old. This clock, which cost over $400, is considered a wonder and in the old station seldom varied more than two seconds in the 24 hours. It has not been doing quite so well since taken down and put up again, but is improving and is so much better than any other clock known that nobody thinks of changing it, and in all probability in a little while, when it gets accustomed to its position and surroundings, it will come as near perfect accuracy as it ever has in its history.—Philadelphia Times.

The Kaiser's Favorite Dish.

The German kaiser and kaiserin usually breakfast and dine with 20 to 60 friends. They call that a "home" luncheon or dinner. The cuisine is half English and half German, and meats are always served in great variety, as the kaiser is a great meat eater. German champagne is furnished with soup, Moselle and Rhine wine follow and then Burgundy and Heidsick Royal with the dessert.

The latter is a special brand manufactured expressly for his majesty, who has always from 6,000 to 10,000 quarts of it in his cellars. The kaiser's favorite dish is Vienna roast beef, or pot roast. Whenever he visits at a house, his court marshal asks the host to place this dish on the menu. The kaiser's menu is always in German script except when foreigners are invited who do not speak the language. The kaiser keeps no pastry cook. All pastries for the schloss are furnished by a caterer in Unter den Linden.

The Empress Frederick's cuisine has never excited the enthusiasm of gourmets. It is neither English nor French nor German. Her majesty is inordinately fond of cream, which is added to most dishes on her table. Purees and pastries are much liked.—New York World.

A NARROW ESCAPE!

How it Happened.

The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which fluttered almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and belch gas from my stomach until I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I couldn't sweep a room without sitting down and resting; but, thank God, by the help of New Heart Cure all that is past and I feel like another woman. Before using the New Heart Cure I had taken different so-called remedies and been treated by doctors without any benefit until I was both discouraged and disgusted. My husband bought me a bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and am happy to say I never regretted it as I now have a splendid appetite and sleep well. I weighed 125 pounds when I began taking the remedy, and now I weigh 130½. Its effect in my case has been truly marvelous. It far surpasses any other medicine I have ever taken or any benefit I ever received from physicians."—Mrs. Harry Starr Pottsville, Pa., October 12, 1892.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or by the Dr Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. Our Stock of Silks is also greatly reduced and we shall fill it up with 50 pieces of new choice stuff. These goods will be fully 20 per cent below any previous prices.

All New, all Fresh, all Attractive, all bought at from 5 cents to 20 cents per yard less than they have ever been sold for before. We are hurrying the new stuff forward just as fast as possible and we shall own the goods so cheap that we can sell at a small profit and merchants with big stocks of old stuff must sell at loss to meet our prices.

Here is a part of the Contents of a Single Number—that for DECEMBER:

MRS. BURTON HARRISON. MRS. SPENCER TRASK, | WM. DEAN HOWELLS, ALBION W. TOURGEE.

A GREAT monthly feature of The Cosmopolitan Magazine is its literary department, "In the World of Art and Letters" where the best books of the month are dicussed or noted. You can absolutely rely upon the candor of what is said. It is conducted by eight of the most famous critics of the world, including Francisque Sarcey, Friedrich Spielhagen. Agnes Repplier, Andrew Lang and I Zangwill.

Besides all this, the December number contains an article on "The Relations of Photography to Art," illustrated by a series of beautiful; a travel article of Napoleon Ney, grandson of the Marshal; a charming sketch, beautifully illustrated, of Queen Margherita; an article on "Musical Instruments of the World;" and another of the "Great Passions of History" series to which James Anthony Froude and Edmund Gosse have been contributors. And all this for 15 cents, or $1.50 a year.

You might be charged more than 15 cents for such a number--25 cts., 35 cts., even $1.00, but could it contain better material?
